About SF’s Teaching With Science Fiction

This is a workshop to prepare teachers to use science fiction in classes for primary or secondary students, or to develop a class on science fiction. The Workshop will take place on Monday, May 31, 2010 (Memorial Day), from 12 noon to 4 p.m. in the Chase Room at the Marriott Hunt Valley Inn. No advance registration is required. As a service to the community there is no charge for teachers attending the Workshop, which is also available to all registered Balticon members. The Teaching With Science Fiction Workshop is designed to provide insights into science fiction and the different ways it can be used effectively in a classroom setting. The Workshop answers questions educators may have about this idea-oriented, forward-looking, student stimulating body of speculative literature. This year’s workshop features two teachers with experience in introducing science fiction within a classroom setting, Magi D. Shepley and Christopher Doody. Also, John Ashmead will reprise his discussion session from the 2009 Workshop. Additionally, attendees will be provided with resource materials for science fiction that have been developed by the AboutSF Science Fiction Resource Center, a joint project of the University of Kansas, the Science Fiction and Fantasy Writers of America, and the Science Fiction Research Association.
